

No special child out of school: Data

ANDREW W. LYNDOH

Shillong, Sept. 16: Meghalaya recorded "no out of school" children with special needs (CWSN) during 2014-15, according to a report, which was tabled in the Assembly today.

According to the annual report of the office of the commissioner for persons with disabilities for 2013-14 and 2014-15, presented on the first day of the autumn session by social welfare minister Deborah C. Marak, 12,793 children with special needs were identified in the state in 2014-15.

Of the 12,793 children, the report pointed out that 8,177 were enrolled in schools according to the unified district information system for education (UDISE) while 2,312 were covered through school readiness programme (SRP) and 2,304 through home based education (HBE).

The children included those afflicted with low vision, blindness, hearing, speech and orthopaedic impairment, cerebral palsy, mental retardation, learning disabilities, multiple disabilities and autism spectrum disorder.

Among the 12,793 children, 2,433 were afflicted with orthopaedic impairment while 2,205 were afflicted with hearing impairment.

Moreover, the report pointed out that there are 2,178 inclusive government schools. The schools include 2,112 elementary and 66 secondary and higher secondary schools. Besides, there are 12 "special schools", of which, five are government-aided and the remaining ones private.

In 2013-14, out of the 9,797 children with special needs, 7,308 were enrolled in schools while 2,484 were covered through HBE. The remaining five were enrolled in Kasturba Gandhi Baika Vidyalaya.

Mother and child tracking centre opens

By Our Reporter

SHILLONG: The National Health Mission (NHM) on Thursday, in collaboration with GVK-EMRI has started operations of the MCTS (Mother and Child Tracking Centre) for Meghalaya.

The two seater operation will be based out of the Emergency response centre of GVK EMRI 108 operations at Shillong and the objective of the MCTS project is to track, verify all pregnant women in the state and advise them on institutional delivery and also verify if key checkups like ANC (ante natal checkups) checkup have been done, which will help reduce the MMR (Maternal mortality rate) and IMR (Infant Mortality rate) in the state.

While in the process of verification, pregnant women would be educated regarding the risks of delivery at home, inform the pregnant women about the free services provided by Government like free referral transport, drop back facilities, monetary incentives under JSSK scheme.

The data maintained and verified would be useful for future references.
